Perkins, Hall In Run-Off For Student Council

Climaxing a spirited campaign the tighest school race in the schools history, run-off is due Friday to elect a president of the Comanche High School Student Council for 1961-62.

Harold Perkins held a slim one vote lead over Frank Hall—and John Dudley was a very close third. The three candidates met Thursday, and decided if the leader did not get a majority vote, the top two candidates would be in Friday's run-off election.

Interest was at an all time high with the balloting coming Thursday morning. Strong interest has been shown since the campaign began—among the candidates, the campaign managers, and the student body as a whole.

Colorful signs have been prominently displayed among the halls and on lockers the last several weeks — and candidates have had some novel ways of campaigning—including the soliciting votes by using unique candidate cards.

Highlight of the campaign came at CHS Assembly Thursday morning, when each candidate, along with selected backers, had the floor to present a "last minute appeal" to voters for their support.

Last of Trio Gets 10 Year Sentence For "Bucket" Robbery

Billy Joe McDonald, 26-year-old Comanche dairy worker, last of a trio charged with robbery of two elderly sisters here last January 15, entered a plea of guilty in 52nd District Court here Wednesday, and a jury assessed his punishment at 10 years in prison.

In the same court, but before a different dozen jurors, J. W. (Dub) Adams, 37, charged in the same robbery, entered a plea of not guilty. After less than two hours deliberation, the jury returned a guilty verdict against Adams and set his punishment at 18 years in the penitentiary. Three weeks ago, Adams' brother, Curtis Lee, 31, pleaded not guilty to a similar robbery indictment, and a jury finding him guilty, recommended 20 years in the penitentiary for the younger of the Adams brothers.

The Adams brothers and McDonald were charged with robbery of Misses Lonie and Hester Anderson, 78 and 76 respectively, from whom a lard bucket stuffed full of currency, was snatched on Sunday night, January 15, after the sisters became alarmed and attempted to flee their home on Comanche's south edge, after being aroused by the voice of men inquiring, "Is this where the Anderson sisters live?". The two elderly women "fished" their bucket of cash—more than $15,000—from under their bed, fled out the back door in an effort to reach a neighboring house. But, out of the darkness, loomed a man's figure to snatch away the treasure from Miss Lonie, who was carrying the bucket.

The next morning, Monday, Jan. 16, the Adams brothers were arrested in Andrews by officers who found more than $10,000 in possession of the Comancheans. Two other men, in company with the Adams brothers in Andrews, were returned here for investigation, but were cleared. In the meantime, McDonald was picked up at his home 6 miles south of Comanche. On Wednesday, the trio was taken to Waco for polygraph tests by Texas Ranger George Roach and former Deputy Sheriff M. T. (Son) Fox, now Comanche city patrolman. Enroute back to Comanche from Waco, the trio led officers to recovery of the lard bucket and cloth sacks which had contained the Anderson sisters' money. The bucket and sacks had been disposed of near Dublin. Then on Wednesday night, McDonald took officers to his home and turned over to them $5,070 in currency that was hidden in his bed.

McDonald was already under a 5-year suspended sentence on a conviction of passing a forged instrument (check), when he was arrested on the robbery complaint. The suspended sentence was revoked on Feb. 7. J. W. Adams was convicted in Lubbock County several years ago on a forgery complaint and served a

Jaycee Carnival Opens Here Next Thursday

The third annual Comanche Jaycee Carnival opens Thursday night and continues Friday and Saturday—May 18, 19, 20, with a big time planned once again for one and all.

City officials have okayed the use of the inner section of the Comanche Square for this annual show—and this portion of town will assume a carnival, holiday atmosphere, with about 10 big carnival rides, and ten booths.

Jaycees will be in charge of the booths—including doll chunking, bottle pick-ups, glass pitch, jewelry spindle, and others.

Then there's to be rides a-plenty including ferris wheel, merry go-round, swings, octupus, pony rides, little cars, and airplanes.

Treasure Chest

In cooperation with local merchants, Comanche Jaycees will have a big give-away each of the three nights. Jaycee President Dale Nowlin explains that free tickets can be obtained from merchants, listed in the Jaycee ad in this issue.

$300 in major prizes are to be given away—one each night, and including a television set Saturday night.

No purchase is necessary to obtain these tickets, says Jaycee President Nowlin, suggesting that you call on cooperating merchants, and ask for a free ticket.

Proceeds from the carnival go to the Jaycee Community Improvement Fund.

It would be hard to find three people in Comanche who has a greater love for our town and county than does a trio who live at 603 North Mary.

Two of the three are now confined to their rooms and most of the time to their beds. The third is kept busy looking after them and at the same time continuing, as much as he can, to the betterment of the life of Comanche.

All three have played active parts in the life of Comanche for many years and their spirits are still high, although their physical strength is not what it used to be. Nevertheless, they continue to be a source of inspiration to those who know them best.

You could probably find some faults with each of them, just as others can in you and me, but their interest and love for the people of Comanche County seemingly continues as strong as ever.

We say "Hats Off" to Dr. C. C. Klingman, Miss Minnie and Walter Jack Cunningham.

Walter Jacks, like most of us, has suffered some hardships and setbacks, like most of us have in various degrees; but he will never be forgotten for the contributions he has made to the town and county.

In his early days Walter Jack was a musician of note and played in the Shriner Band in New York and other big cities of America. He was a banker, an auditor, a bookkeeper, and when when fortune did not smile so kindly on him, he was not above taking lessor jobs.

One of his literary contributions that he made to the life of Comanche has not been publicised, and perhaps is but little known.

About 25 years ago Cunningham compiled a history of football in Comanche High School covering the period from its beginning in 1901 through 1938.

Still in tyepwritten form, it was placed in Comanche High School library some time ago. Just last week we saw it for the first time.

Miss Nobia Dunn, our efficient and beloved high school librarian, was kind enough to show it to us and allow us to take it home for examination.

Miss Dunn said that when she showed the football history to Superintendent S. H. Fletcher he praised it highly and was surprised and delighted to know of its existence; and said that it would be a great contribution to our high school library.

We don't usually discuss athletics in this department, as most of our readers, if any, are not too much interested in that field. But because of the personalities involved, we believe that all may find some interest in what Mr. Cunningham has to say in his article.

According to Cunningham, the first Comanche High School football team was organized in 1901. If that is the correct date, Comanche High School started playing football just 7 years after the sport was introduced in Texas when the University of Texas, A. & M. College, and one or two other Texas colleges of that period, first started playing football in 1894.

Coaches of the first Comanche High School football team, according to Walter Jack, were Oscar Callaway and Dick Harris.

We do not know how many of these men are still living, except Gib Callaway, Cunningham, and perhaps Dick Harris.

The following poem was read at the reunion of the survivors of the 1901 football team held in the local high school in 1936:

"The football days
are here again
The gladdest of the year;
One side of Bob's nose
is gone
And Mike has lost an ear;
Heaped on the field,
the players jab
And punch and clar and tear;
They knock the breath
from those beneath
And gouge without a care;
They break each others'
arms and legs
And pull joints out of place;
And out there on the gridiron is Gibb
With his teeth

Some people are naturally enemies of football and thing such games are played only by ruffians. But rules forbid unfairness and rascality, and the gulity player is punished. It is noted, however, in a healthy contested game of football, that Dave caught his opponent by the hand and after biting a piece of it out, he was put out of the game.

During one early game, four players were left unconscious on the field and nearly a score of others were bruised by the mauling they received. The dispute started between two players and the rest was easy and then the fight became general.

As a matter of fact, the fight gives glowing evidence of the progression of Texas towards civilization and high ideals. Think of it, not a gun was fired, not a funeral note followed the mixup, and not a pop bottle was thrown.

The above was written about a game played in the fall of 1902.

Before telling more about some of the exploits of Comanche's first team, I wish to quote some general history of real early day football as found in the encyclopedia.

"Football is a game, which consists, as the game implies, in giving motion to a ball with the feet alone. It had been justly designatede as the winter game of Great Britain and justly takes the place of cricket, from Michaelmas to Lady Day.

In early Greece there was a game similar to our modern football game.

The Romans also used a large

Hasse Citizens Finish Low On Totem Pole In The Contest But Battling For A Come-Back

The Hasse community finished tenth in the district in the recent Rural Progress Contest but their spirits are high and they are "beating their drums" for a come-back.

Hasse, the nearest of the competing communities to Comanche, is the nearest town to the Proctor Dam. The location of the damsite may not make a metropolis out of Hasse, once a thriving commercial village with a bank and a railroad, but if the opportunities are properly handled, Hasse should take on new life and make its influence felt throughout the county.

Two years ago they organized their Community Progress Club and finished in the money. Although Hasse did not win this year, the people of the community have not been idle as the following data compiled for the tour reveals.

The comment about each farm is brief, but if you will read it though, we believe that all will agree, that the opportunity for the advancement of Hasse is good.

The report:

T. O. Cotten: Seven in family, bought new TV set and remodeled inside of house.

Orval Shaw: Five in family. They are active club members. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw are leaders in foods unit and electricity. Mr. Shaw is a barber in Comanche.

Henry Greenlee: They have lived here for 48 years. Own their on stock farm. Are active in the community when able.

Pete Stark: Old residents. Own all their land but rent it out.

Mr. and Mrs. Towe: This family has recently moved here and works in Comanche.

The land on each side of road here belongs to Ogden Fritts. He lives in Van Dyke community.

Fisher Reese: Mr. Reese bought this place last year. He is the owner of Reese Butane in Comanche.

Road to Proctor Dam: Land was given by the Hasse land owners for this road and we are very proud to have a project like this to be located in our community. Our population and trade has increased quite a lot and we expect it to be even greater.

Circle: Bill Warring, Project Engineer will make a short talk.

Mrs. Lizzie McEntire: She owns 240 acres. She has two head of whiteface Herefords. She had part of house remodeled and built new outhouses.

Freshmen Voc. Ag Students Complete School Projects

Each year the freshmen students of Comanche High School who are enrolled in Vocational Agriculture are taught the use of the common hand tools. These tools include the crosscut hand saw, the claw hammer, the wood chisel, the steel square, the try square, the brace and bit, the screw driver, the wood mallet, the breast drill, the compass and many others.

The boys learn to use these tools on scrap lumber from instruction and then practice, that is, they learn to do by doing. After they have acquired an ability to use the tools they are required to make a project. Several suggested projects are discussed, and the majority of the class chooses the required class project to be made. When the projects are completed, the students are permitted to group the projects according to the best, second best etc. After the students have grouped the projects the instructor then grades the projects and explains why each project is classed and graded as he sees it to be.

The two best projects built this year were built by Jerry Hill and Franklin Power. The boys are seen in the picture with their projects and behind them can be seen many of the shelves built by other boys. The project for this year is a wall hanging book shelf.

Cyril Irby Resigns As De Leon High School Principal To Accept The Elementary Co-Op Counselor Post

Cyril E. Irby, principal of De Leon High School for the past eleven years and De Leon Junior High for two years previously, resigned his position last week, to accept a new post as Elementary Co-Op Counselor for Comanche County, starting August 15.

Counseling and guidance are not new phases of the educational program, but the broadening of the counseling program is relatively new. Testing, counseling, and guidance assistance will be available to all students. This program will mean much in helping to plan for students their course of study; aid as a means of directing their thinking into educational fields most suited to their aptitudes and interests.

The purpose of a counseling program is to identify the aptitudes, abilities, and interests of each student. Then try to create a desire and to motivate students into fields of study that they might reach their maximum capacity o fachievement.

Under the Gilmer-Aiken Program schools who qualify are entitled to have counselors or supervisors with the salary being paid entirely by the State. The Comanche County Schools have chosen counselors for this service. The counselor's services are not forced on a student at any time. The ecounselor tries to help the students to know more about themselves and how to better select a vocation more suited to their aptitudes and interests.

Mr. Irby plans to enter NTS College this summer to study in the field of counseling and guidance, also, to work toward his doctors degree.

Irby received his BA degree from Howard Payne College in 1939 and received his MA degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1950. During this time he has served as teacher and administration.

R. H. Nowlin has served Comanche County the past two years as secondary counselor, and will continue to work in this capacity.

Mrs. Joe Waring Presents Pupils In Piano Recital

The parlor of the First Methodist Church was the setting for an hour's pleasant entertainment Sunday afternoon, April 30, when Mrs. Joe Waring presented a small group of her piano students in recital. Only those children who registered prior to Januarq 1, took part in the program.

There was much favorable comment on the beauty, charm, and poise of each child as she introduced herself and named the selection she would play. The fact that the children had made their own guest list and felt themselves among friends may have accounted somewhat for the perfection of their performance or the fact that they were permitted to choose the selections which they played may have given them that feeling of self confidence they seemed to have.

Mrs. Waring was heard to remark that she was quite pleased that several chose music that was quite difficult for them. The children presented were Marilyn Boykin, Elizabeth Ann Lane, Gwin Summers, Gay Waggoner, Ginger Seay, Coven Morrow, Sue Cox, Mollie Robertson, Ruth Robertson, Kathy Fanning, and Janette Ellis.

Following the music, Mrs. Herbert Williams served fruit punch and cookies from a table laid with a cut work cloth and crystal. Mrs. Gaston Boykin and Mrs. James Fanning contributed lovely spring flower arrangements in green, yellow and white.

Deanna Durham Honored With Party

Miss Deanna Durham, 1961 graduate of Comanche High School, was honored with a luncheon by her aunt, Mrs. Floyd Prather, Saturday, May 6th. "Egg Head" was the motif of the party.

Guests were seated in groups of four with their places marked with egg heads wearing graduation caps, and diplomas inscribed with their fortunes. Tables were centered with arrangements of yellow dutch iris. A delicious three course luncheon was served.

After lunch each guest read her fortune aloud, and then the hostess presented the honoree with a gift. The hostess placed on the center of each table a tray laden with an egg for each girl, glitter, lace, buttons, doilies, etc. Each girl then decorated one egg.

Judges decided the most clever egg was "June Bride" decorated by Judy Kay McCullough. She was presented with a decorative shower cap for her efforts.

Guests included the honoree; her mother, Mrs. Walter Durham Jr.; Sharon Durham, Sandra Prather, Virginia Cobb, Judy McCullough, Gail Anthony, Janice Isham, Beverly Barret, Janet Meyers, Sherry Ross, Barbara Hicks, Sue Gore, Nancy Foreman Lane, Judith Robertson, Lanita Merrell, and Kathy Arthur.

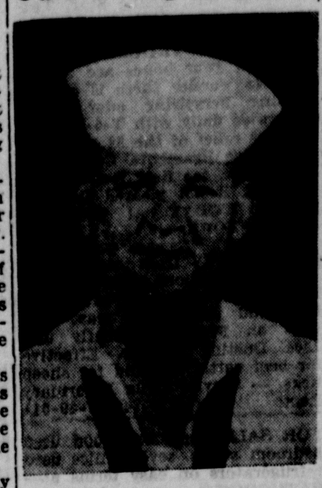
De Leon Sailor Is Commended For Outstanding Work



Following is a self explanatory letter commending Paul Pruett of the United States Navy, for special services rendering in repairing engines of the USS Oak Hill.

Pruett, is a native of De Leon, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gunter, formerly of De Leon and now of Fort Worth—and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hcomb, Mrs. Vina Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patton, all of Comanche and Mrs. Ellen Lawless, De Leon.

The letter follows:

TO: Paul Pruett

It is with pleasure that I extend personal thanks and appreciaton for your outstanding performance fo duty during the period 23-25 February 1961, while making repairs to the main engines of the USS Oak Hill.

Due to great trouble of both main engines, the Oak Hill was unable to get underway. A major job that would normally require the services of a ship yard was undertaken by you, and a result of your outstanding technical knowledge, devotion to duty, and long hours of hard work without rest or relief, and without proper tools and facilities, the work was completed in record time and the Oak Hil was able to sail on schedule and meet her commitments.

Through you, the Oak Hill has maintained her reputation as one of the best Phibpac, well done.

Mrs. Foreman greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Freddie Ross. Mrs. Bill Lane registered the guests in the bride's book. Music was furnished by Miss Judith Robertson at the piano.

Guests were served an orchid fruit punch, white cake squares, and nuts, using the bride's chosen colors. The table was laid with a white maderia cloth centered with an arrangement of . . . ??

As It Looks From Here

OMAR BURLESON, M. C.
17th District, Texas.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A news item in Washington describes the reaction of a mental patient from Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, who was taken into the city after many years of close confinement.

Asked what he enjoyed most during a two-hour automobile ride, he immediately said he enjoyed most the traffic lights. He said it was beautiful to see the bright red tur nto amber and then to green.

Do you suppose we could take a lesson from this when we think we are in a great hurry and encounter a red light? It could help us to smile and be patient instead of cursing our luck and crowding the amber light.

Some men in the armed forces during the war learned to appreciate a lot of little things like a cool drink of water when cool water was not to be had. If the lesson was remembered, we would have more patience when we did not immediately get a telephone number or when the water is off some morning, or when the green light suddenly changes to red.

Perhaps our impatience goes much farther. Could it be that the impatience of the average American is a major factor in our seeming inability to adjust ourselves to a rapidly changing world?

Older nations have learned to exercise patience to a much greater degree than have we. The British spoke of their "Eastern problem" a century ago, which meant Russia. We have only been living with it lately.

Probably our impatience is inherent in us because of our industry and energy to conquer a land which our forefathers found as a primeval forest. Measured in relative terms, America was developed rapidly at the hands of free men who were willing to work under a system of competitive free enterprise. This system enabled men of vision and vigor to build the railroads, tunel the mountains, dig the canals and clear the forests, which has made us the strongest nation and the strongest people in the world.

We dare not lose it. We will not lose it if we remember how we got it.

It is not enough to pay lip service to these things in which we believe. It requires continuous participation on the part of all of us. By reason of our being the strongest nation and the greatest people on the face of the earth wasplaced us in the position of world leadership. If we are going to be like the little dog that freight train, then we have no business to be in such a position.

We should hurry a return to the tried and true principles which made America what it is —we should hurry in our preparedness for the responsible leadership of free nations. But at the same time we need to exercise patience in a terribly complicated world. It seems we are the only people in a big hurry in international affairs, but not too sure of the direction in which we are going.

The Traffic Light-Patience! It has been said that smile is a curve that can set a lot of things straight.

Bob is not the carpenter but is Bob Carpenter. He is a resident of Comanche, and is one of the many I have met since I came. I have observed he is being liked by young, adults, and old. He works in many offices—I do not know his main profession: I have heard people saying if I do not get in books the information of Comanche I needed. I will get it from Bob. But it is very difficult to find him. His wife tries to help when he will be back to home.

One night at the close of the 4-H method demonstration meeting he extended his invitation to me for coffee. His wife accompanied us in the automobile. He drove me. When he stopped at a residence he introduced Mr. and Mrs. Whit Jarratt and requested me to be seated. He arranges for coffee. Over the cup of coffee, Bob introduced the son and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whit Jarratt. The daughter has a collection o stamps and coins of other countries. He can play a good host in others home too.

His Knowledge

What he knows is known to him only. I can feel he knows something of everything. I believe he is one of the authorities on Comanche history. He knows every family and calls everyone by name which goes to his credit. He renders his services to many departments. Recently he is working as a county and city director of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief.

During the emergency planning committee meeting at the ASC building he gave us the statistics of Comanche about the dresses, beds, blankets, number of male and female shoes and the number of cigaretete packets available in time of crisis. This was in connection with providing protection to the people of other counties who will be affected in case of man made or natural disaster.

He works in Comanche Chief newspaper office at the linotype machine. He takes keen interest in the youth activities. Now he studies about India.

He is a good friend of mine and I hope when he invites me next for coffee he will drive me to his own home and not to some other friends home.

quote the rule on the num- of down: If in three conse- e downs (unless the ball s the goal line) a team has er advanced the ball five or taken it back 20 yards, ll go the opponent on the spot of the fourth down.

At that time the quarterback could not throw, toss, or pitch the ball to anyone, nor could he carry it himself, unless he first dropped back at least five yards behind the line of scrimmage and then ran at least five yards towards one side of the field before starting toward the goal.

He had to hand the ball to any other player. Forward passes were not used at that time and had not even been heard of.

From my own experience in 1902, I remember that our team on kickoff, booted the ball, on two separate trys out of bounds, and in so doing lost the right to try again; and so the opposing side took the ball and kicked to us.

Here is an interesting old time rule: If the ball hit the ground and bounced over the goal in an attempt for a field goal, it counted 4 points, but this later was changed to 3 points. This rule was changed to not allow any points, after a Princeton player, by the name of White, won two important games by this method.

In the 1901 rules, in lining up, every player could be on the line of scrimmage if he wished and at least five had to be on the line.

One of the important plays in 1901 was the "flying wedge" wherein the entire team surrounded the ball carrier and by force of numbers and power, fairly lifted him up and over the opposition.

Naturally it was next to impossible for one or two men to get the ball carrier, and was dangerous for them even to try. The ball carrier could be pushed or literally tossed through the air over the tacklers.

Back in my football days, we knew nothing of the so-called squll-practices. To many it will be interesting to know that now in most schools, about as much time is devoted to skull practice (blackboard work and questions) as on the field.

Recently I came into possession of some up-to-the-minute questions asked about football and thought likely the answer might be an eye-opener to some of you. They follow:

What is a conference? What the boss is in when you want to ask him for the afternoon off.

What is a dead ball? One that will not bounce.

What is a pass? The kind of grade a sports loving professor gives good football players.

What is blocking? That which happens to traffic when the school puts on a band parade.

What is meant by sidelines? What the reporters say about the game as it is being player, but is not put in the newspapers.

What is the worse kick of the game? What the fans say when someone makes a bad play or the team loses.

When Comanche High School organized a football team in 1901, since no other high school in this section played football, John Tarleton College at Stephenville was challenged.

We all boarded the Frisco one morning and started over there. When we got off the train at Stephenville, we started walking from the depot to the town which was several blocks away. Each player carried his own belongings in his "grip". When we reached the square, we were given a small room on the second floor of the courthouse.

Here we left our luggage and filed out for dinner, each Comanche boy going home with a Stephenville boy for dinner. It fell my lot to go along with Claude Caver, whose sister was Mrs. Gerald Beeman of Comanche.

When we gathered back at the courthouse after dinner, we were met by a big crowd of colored people who came out to challenge us as it was known that colored people were not allowed in Comanche. They just looked on, but said nothing. They followed us out to the Tarleton football field which was just a sand lot. Some of us got a little scared.

As no admission charge was made, the colored people got on one side by themselves, but they did not bother us except to yell for Tarleton.

After the game was over, we had to wait until three o'clock the next morning for the train to take us home. During that long wait in Stephenville, we stayed inside a restaurant on the north side of the square, fearing to venture out as the colored people almost filled the square.

The crowd who witnessed the game did not seem concerned so much about who won the game as they were about how it was played.

Someone wrote the following verse about the game:

"He made a run
around the end,
Was tackled from the rear;
The right guard
sat upon his neck
The fullback upon his ear;
The center sat upon his back
Two ends upon his chest
The quarterback and the halfback then
Sat down on him to rest
The left guard
sat upon his head
The tackles on his face
The coroner was then called
To sit upon the case.

That verse may have suited our Daniel Baker game, but not the one with Tarleton. In the Tarleton game the Comanche boys all seemed to have the "feel". We had no seven blocks of granite nor four horsemen, but there was Jim Hensler at left half, blocking out the opponents, and Martin Woodward, one of the best running backs Comanche ever had, right behind him.

Martin was a stop-go runner. One time, however, after getting clear by the line of scrimmage and into the open field, Martin's foot slipped and down he came flat on his face in the sand.

In those days well sodded grass fields were unknown. Only vacant lots that were not being used, could be secured for football fields and the one in Stephenville was overloaded with deep white sand.

There were no cheering sections, but a good portion of the crowd flocked onto the field and followed behind the man carrying the ball, sometimes getting so close the ball carrier had to dodge several of the crowd as well as the opposing players.

In that game our friend Caver played either at guard or tackle, and was declared a clean player by the Comanche boys. Later he moved to Comanche where he owned and operated the picture show for years, and became one of Comanche's most beloved citizens.

Oscar Callaway, a University of Texas graduate, who taught country schools before taking up the practice of law, and afterward becoming the only Congressman ever elected from Comanche, was our coach. He taught us to follow the ball and this instruction proved profitable as Tarleton fumbled quite a bit and Comanche frequently recovered.

Everytime the criss-cross play was called, Ben Anthony took the ball and gained.

In the present time, the whistle is a very important instrument in the game and the referee can make or break a good game, but back in 1901 the whistle was more of an ornament, and was used mostly to get the team ready to play at the beginning and at the end of the halves and to announce the time of the time of the kick-off.

When the ball player was thrown to the ground, there was no rule against "piling on and the players of both teams" all tried to jump on top of the ball carrier and to take the ball from him in any way that they could.

Well, who won the game. The score was Comanche High 19, Tarleton College 0. Thus Comanche got off to a winning start in its first matched game away from home.
